PREVENTION STARTS WITH YOU

SAAPM
SEXUAL ASSAULT AWARENESS AND PREVENTION MONTH

SAAPM puts spotlight on importance of prevention

REDSTONE ARSENAL, Ala. – As the Army once again recognizes April as Sexual Assault Awareness and Prevention Month, its policy and processes for working through sexual harassment and sexual assault within its workforce are evolving to reflect lessons learned during the past 10 years. “We’ve come a long way as an Army from those early days of SHARP training,” said Army Materiel Command Chief of Staff Maj. Gen. Walter Duzzny. “But then as well as now, we can’t overemphasize the importance of Army values.”

PEOPLE FIRST – QUALITY OF LIFE UPDATES

Secretary of labor visits JBLM

JOINT BASE LEWIS-McCHORD, Wash. – Secretary of Labor Martin Walsh visited Joint Base Lewis-McChord March 23 to learn about the base's Transition Assistance Program partnership with WorkSource. JBLM's TAP program is one of only two located on military installations to embed with the WorkSource program. While visiting, Walsh was able to tour the Hawk Career Center including the Suits for Service Members, TAP, Classrooms, Spouse Ambassador Program and WorkSource. He was also able to hear from spouses, veterans and WorkSource employees.

Commissaries challenge patrons to improve quality of diets

FORT LEE, Va. – Two months into the new year and your resolution resolve and willpower are waning. It's no accident that March is National Nutrition Month, a time to reset your vow to be healthier in 2022. To help customers get refocused on improving the nutrition quality of their diet, the Defense Commissary Agency invites patrons to join its 30-day challenge in March. DeCA urges commissary patrons to take the challenge to see how small changes will make a huge difference.

Crafting promotes resiliency at Fort McCoy ACS

FORT MCCOY, Wis. – March is National Crafting Month, but Army Community Service provides crafting opportunities throughout the year. ACS is charged to provide resilience training to family members and Army Civilians encompassing the five dimensions of well-being: emotional, family, physical, social and spiritual. The Master Resilience Training modules provide attendees an opportunity to focus on skills to enhance their self-awareness, self-regulation, optimism, mental agility, strengths of character and connection.

Guest chef prepares spring meal for garrison newcomers

VICENZA, Italy – Newcomers attending “Benvenuti” got a special treat when Aly Rohling, spouse of the commanding general of U.S. Army Southern European Task Force, Africa, prepared them lunch. Rohling prepared a chicken, called “Spring Chicken” paired with roasted potatoes and red beets with a mild cheese. “While you are here, enjoy Italy,” she said. “Get out there. Experience the culture, the people. They truly are very warm and welcoming people.”

Hawaii students can score gift cards in Exchange's 'You Made the Grade' program

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Hawaii – The Army & Air Force Exchange Service is continuing its tradition of rewarding academic excellence through its You Made the Grade program – honoring the resiliency of military kids worldwide. In its 22nd year, the You Made the Grade program honors academic excellence for students in first through 12th grades, including those who are home schooled. Students who maintain a B average or higher are eligible to receive a $5 Exchange gift card each grading period.
